Accountant's Office celebrates 7 years, rolls out new product

Harbour Club resident Carolyn J. Brown, a self-proclaimed "serial entrepreneur" who has owned up to four businesses at the same time, celebrates the seventh anniversary of The Accountant's Office, LLC, providing business and personal bill paying services to clients nationwide.

In addition, she says she's "very excited" about their new service: "Your Virtual Accounting Office."

"It allows business owners to outsource their entire accounting operation, including invoicing clients, banking activities, bill paying, payroll, sales tax and financial statements. We do everything short of income taxes!" she explains.

With her trademarked slogan "You never have to see a bill again!" The Accountant's Office has seen three years of rapid growth and expansion. Brown says the firm now has seven associates on their team, including Rhonda W. Jones, one of the company's two CPAs, who also serves as operations manager. Jones has a Masters in Business Administration and a Masters in Business Management.

After the first year of using their service, one of their clients saved more than $25,000.

"That's because we replaced their previous full-time in-house bookkeeper," Brown explains. "For one of our new clients, we are estimating that we will save him close to $100,000 this year by replacing his CFO."

As companies explore their options in light of the current economic situation, Brown says they are increasingly looking to streamline their operations.

Besides the June anniversary celebration, Brown also marks the 35th anniversary of opening her first accounting service, D.C.T., Co, Inc., in Tempe in August of 1973.

"With technological changes and the Internet, business is so much easier now than it was then. I remember taking papers to the corner copy shop every day. Now we are paperless! Everything is stored electronically and securely backed up."
